HOCKEY ALBERTA: PROVINCIALS

Hockey Alberta has awarded the Bantam C Provincial Tournament to the CNN Spurs, and will be played in both Gibbons & Bon Accord on March 17-19th.

This is an exciting opportunity for CNN Spurs to raise money for the association as well as provide our Bantam Team an opportunity to compete at the Provincial level. Stay tuned for more information as the host committee gets the ball rolling over the next few weeks.

Lockey Christie knows a thing or two about hockey, especially when it comes to the making of the CNN Spurs. Lockey has played the role as a CNN coach, a CNN dad, a CNN spectator and now a CNN Grandpa to Avery Pattison (Atom), Gavin Pattison & Cameron Dureault (both Initiation)

Lockey can remember when Gibbons and Bon Accord joined to form one association. “Back then the towns did not get along, especially when it came to hockey. When we joined them it brought the two communities together and better hockey.”

He remembers they “wanted the name of the new association to be associated with the Junior Broncos. That is how the idea of the Spurs came up.” The original logo was a cowboy boot and a spur. Some would say it was fitting for the two small rural communities.

Since then the original logo at center ice may have been changed. But the Grandpas standing along the railings in the stands watching the new generation of CNN hockey players remember the original white and blue and the making of the CNN Spurs.

How many players in CNN today have parents that also wore the Spurs jersey?
