BASEBALL is a game between two teams of 9 players each, under direction of a manager, played on an enclosed field, under jurisdiction of one or more umpires.

The objective of each team is to win by scoring more runs than the opponent. The winner of the game shall be that team which shall have scored, in accordance with these rules, the greater number of runs at the conclusion of a regulation game.

PITCHING A PITCHER is the fielder designated to deliver the pitch to the batter.

O The pitcher's PIVOT FOOT is that foot which is in contact with the pitcher's plate as he delivers the pitch. It can leave the plate after releasing the ball.

A QUICK RETURN pitch is one made with obvious intent to catch a batter off balance. It is an illegal

A WILD PITCH is one so high, so low, or so wide of the plate that it cannot be handled with ordinary effort by the catcher.

SCORING RUNS

A RUN (or SCORE) is the point scored by an offensive player who advances from batter to runner and touches first, second, third base, and crosses home plate in that order.

Example:

A batter hits a ball in play in the left field and makes it to 1st base safely. He now becomes a runner.

The next batter gets walked and moves the lead runner over to 2nd base.

The next batter hits a fly ball into deep right center field that is caught. The lead runners both advance after the ball is caught safely.

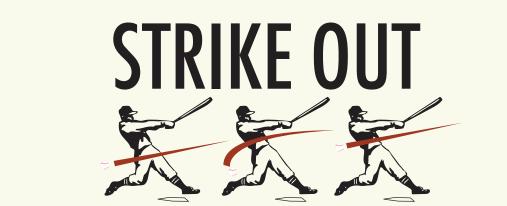

The next batter hits a base hit into right field away from the lead runner allowing him to cross home plate and score easily 1 st Runner

An inning is portion of the game within which the teams alternate on offense and defense and there are three putouts or "outs" for each team. Each team's time at bat is a half-inning. There are 9 innings in a regulation baseball game. If the score is tied at the end of nine innings then "Extra Innings" are played until the a final score is decided.

HOME team in the field "top of AWAY team bats "top of the inning" AWAY team bats 1 Inning AWAY team in the field "bottom HOME team bats of the inning"

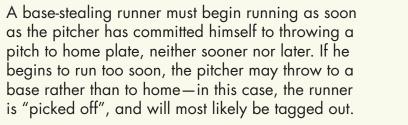

HIT BY PITCH: a batter may also be awarded first base if he is hit by a pitch. The batter must attempt to get out of the way of the ball before being hit to be awarded the base. If he does not attempt to move out of the way of the path of the ball and is hit the pitch will called a ball.

When a batter revieves 3 strikes before he: a) Strikes the ball into play b) Is pitched 4 balls by the pitcher He is marked as 1 out.

A STOLEN BASE occurs when a baserunner successfully advances to the next base while the pitcher is delivering the ball to home plate.

A LEAD OFF is when the runner takes steps away from the saftey of the base to get a head start to steal the next base.

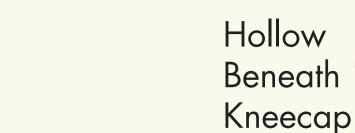

Second base is the base most often stolen. It is also technically the easiest to steal, as it is farthest from home plate and thus a longer throw from the catcher is required to prevent it.

foul territory between home and first base, or between home and third base, or that bounds past first or third base on or over foul territory, or that first falls on foul territory beyond first or third base, or that, while on or over foul territory, touches the person of an umpire or player, or any object foreign to the natural ground.

BATTING ORDER

The BATTING ORDER, or batting lineup, in baseball is the sequence in which the 9 members of the offense take their turns in batting against the pitcher. The batting order is set by the manager before the game begins (although substitutions may subsequently take place). If a team bats out of order, it is a violation of baseball's rules and subject to penalty. When the whole batting order makes plate appearances in a single inning, it is called "batting around."

The first player in the batting order is the leadoff hitter. The leadoff batter is the fastest baserunner on the team and is most likely to reach base.

#2

The second batter, most often just referred to as in the two-hole, is usually a contact hitter with the ability to bunt or get a hit. His main goal is to move the leadoff man into scoring position.

The third batter, in the three-hole, is generally the best all-around hitter on the team, often hitting for a high batting average.

The fourth player in the batting order is known as the cleanup hitter, and is almost always one of the best hitters on the team, often the one with the most power.

#5,#6

The fifth and sixth (and sometimes seventh) batters have traditionally been RBI men, with the main goal of driving runners home, especially with sacrifice flies.

#7,#8

The seventh and eighth batters are often not as powerful as the earlier batters, and do not have as high a batting average.

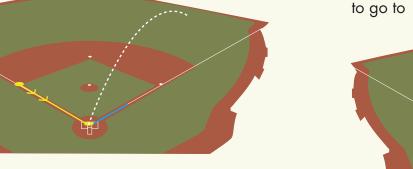

The ninth batter is often like the second leadoff. Nine-hitters tend to be fast, and have a decent on base percentage like the leadoff

SACRIFICE FLY

In baseball, a sacrifice fly is a batted ball that satisfies four criteria:

There are fewer than two outs when the ball is hit. The ball is hit to the outfield. The batter is out because an outfielder or an infielder running in the outfield catches the ball. A runner who is already on base scores on the

It is called a "sacrifice" fly because the batter presumably intends to cause a teammate to score a run, while sacrificing his own ability to do so.

HOME RUN TYPES OF HITS

A HOME RUN is when a batter hits a pitched ball out of the field of play. The ball must leave the field of play while remaining in fair territory. When this happens the batter must run around and touch every base to award his team a run.

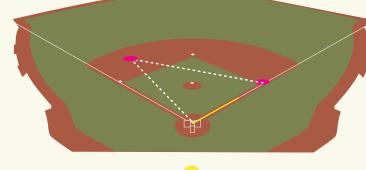

A GRAND SLAM is when a batter hits a home run while there is runners on all 3 bases, awarding his team 4 runs.

FORCE PLAY

In baseball, a force is a situation when a baserun-ner is compelled (or forced) to vacate his time-ofpitch base—and thus try to advance to the next base—because the batter became a runner. A runner at first base is always forced to attempt to advance to second base when the batter becomes a runner. Runners at second or third base are forced only when all bases preceding their time-of-pitch base are occupied by other baserunners and the batter becomes a runnér.

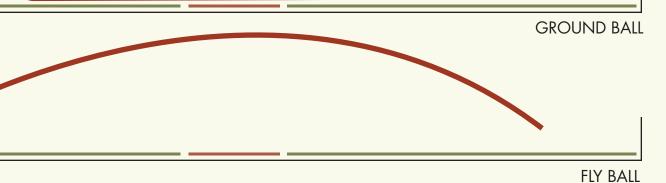

A forced runner's force base is the next base beyond his time-of-pitch base. Any attempt by fielders to put a forced runner out is called a force play. A forced runner is out (called a force out) when a fielder with the ball touches the runner's force base before the runner reaches that base

Example: A batter hits a ground ball to the short stop and the short stop throw the ball to the 1st basemen who is steping on the base. The batter is out because the defence was able to touch the base he was "forced

A BUNT is a special type of offensive technique in baseball or fastpitch softball. In a bunt play, the batter loosely holds the bat in front of the plate and intentionally taps the ball into play.

The bunt is often characterized by the batter turning his body toward the pitcher and sliding one hand up the barrel of the bat to help steady it. This is called squaring to bunt. Depending on the type of bunt, the batter might square well before the pitcher begins throwing, or as the pitch is being delivered.

SACRIFICE BUNT, the batter will put the ball thrown out. The sacrifice bunt is most often used a.) A GROUND RULE DOUBLE is an automatic double results from a batted ball bouncing from fair territory over a wall and landing out of play.

b.)A GROUND RULE DOUBLE is also awarded when a batted ball goes through or under a fence or through or sticking in shrubbery or vines on the fence and cannot be found or retrieved.

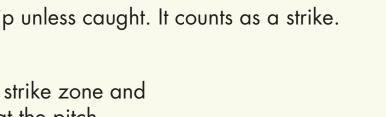

c.)A GROUND RULE DOUBLE is also awarded if a defensive player knocks a fly ball into the stands within 250 ft. of home plate.

DOUBLE PLAY

A DOUBLE PLAY is a play by the defense in which two offensive players are putout as a result of continuous action, providing there is no error between putouts. (a) A force double play is one in which both putouts are force

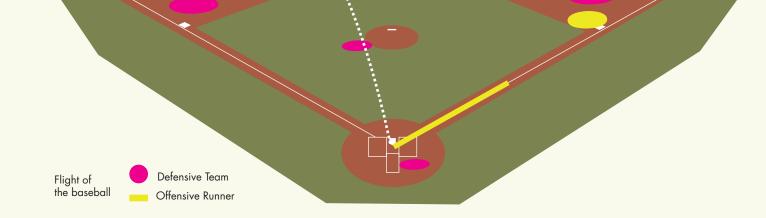

(b) A reverse force double play is one in which the first out is a force play and the second out is made on a runner for whom the force is removed by reason of the first out.

Examples of reverse force plays: runner on first, one out; batter grounds to first baseman, who steps on first base (one out) and throws to second baseman or shortstop for the second out (a tag play). Another example: bases loaded, none out; batter grounds to third baseman, who steps on third base (one out); then throws to catcher for the second out (tag play).

An INFIELD FLY is a fair fly ball (not including a line drive nor an attempted bunt) which can be caught by an infielder with ordinary effort, when first and second, or first, second and third bases are occupied, before two are out. The pitcher, catcher and any outfielder who stations himself in the infield on the play shall be considered infielders for the purpose of this rule. When it seems apparent that a batted ball will be an Infield Fly, the umpire shall immediately declare "Infield Fly" for the benefit of the runners. If the ball is near the baselines, the umpire shall declare "Infield Fly, if Fair." The ball is alive and runners may advance at the risk of the ball being caught, or retouch and advance after the ball is touched, the same as on any fly ball. If the hit becomes a foul ball, it is treated the same as any foul.If a declared Infield Fly is allowed to fall untouched to the ground, and bounces foul before passing first or third base, it is a foul ball. If a declared Infield Fly falls untouched to the ground outside the baseline, and bounces fair before passing first or third base, it is anInfield Fly.
