Conflict resolution guidelines.

At times players, parents, coaches and referees do not always share similar opinions, aspirations and expectations. These differences can result in conflicts which should be avoided or immediately resolved through communication.

Although conflicts are least likely to occur in the younger age groups, it is possible for disputes to arise within any age group.

Coaches are encouraged to spend some time talking to the players and their parents at the beginning of the year about his/her coaching philosophy and how it aligns with the vision statement for Edson Minor Soccer. Parents who do not agree with the coach's philosophy are encouraged to follow the communication chart. It is also important to stress to the parents that EMSA is a volunteer organization which does not employ professional coaches. Encourage the players and parents to talk to the coaches about areas of concerns.

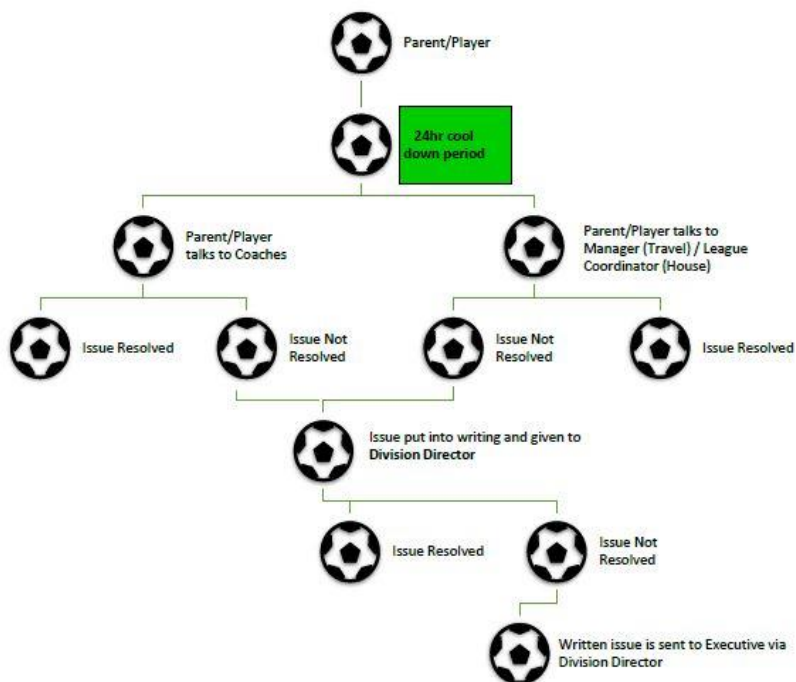

Conflict resolution:

1. The involved parties should arrange to meet in private after a 24 hour waiting period to determine the cause of the conflict and determine the next step required to alleviate this and future conflicts.
2. Failing step #1, a separate meeting should be arranged between the involved parties with the league coordinator to work through the conflict.
3. If the conflict remains unresolved, the issue is to be put into writing and submitted to the division director, who will work with the league coordinator and the parties involved to resolve the issue.
4. Any issue still unresolved at this point will be forwarded to the executive by the division director

Feedback for Referees

Referees and assistant referees assigned to games in the Edson Minor Soccer Association have been trained and accredited by the Alberta Soccer Association. They attend a mandatory refresher to maintain their accreditation. If you have positive comment for the referee, please pass it on directly to the referee. If you have questions or comments about how a referee has interpreted the laws of the game or would like to pass on comments to the referee supervisor, please contact your league coordinator.
