Coach Codes of Conduct

While the immediate evaluation of a club may lie in the success that it experiences on the field the ultimate worth of a club is found in how it prepares its members to meet the challenges of adult life. The Aurora Soccer Club believes the development of character to be just as vital as the development of soccer skills.

- Be an educator. Take the responsibility of development seriously and be prepared on a daily and seasonal basis.
- Be professional on the sidelines. Behave with character and dignity. Pay attention to language while you respect officials and opponents. Aurora coaches do not yell or direct the individual movements of our players while on the field.
- Observe the club dress code at all functions.
- Be a role model. Take successes and failures with a view of the big picture, supply the perspective that a young person may not be able to.
- Give 100% - 100% of the time
- Treat players and families with respect.
- Represent yourself, your team, and the club as best you can be a leader.
