Governance

The board is responsible for the highest level of decision making and legal authority in the organization. By law, it is ultimately accountable for, and has authority over, the organization’s resources and activities. The board articulates and communicates the organization’s vision to the membership and the community. Through policy, the board defines the parameters within which the organization will carry out its work.

Governance is the way in which the board exercises its authority, control, and direction over the organizations. The board carries out its governance role by developing and monitoring policies, and it organizes its work through committees.
