on the Rockets. Keyva Beeching tied the game up with an amazing passing play by Nora DesRochers and Olivia Martel.

Tied 1-1 after two periods, the Cyclones could smell blood. Determined to get the next goal, the team started winning races for the puck. At 8:17 of the 3rd period, Chloe Kennedy stole the puck and took off on a breakaway scoring the go-ahead goal. As the girls celebrated the goal on the ice, the fans were equally as pumped up. Popcorn was sent flying and drinks were spilled as fans jumped to their feet due to the excitement of the moment. Nella Walker who replaced Layla Sample in goal, shut down the Rockets for the rest of the game.

After the game the satisfaction of the win was clear, as Coach Ryan said "It was a good first game for us. We expected a sloppy game, but there were some positives there. I like how we got engaged in the second period. Lots to work on, but happy to see the girls were ready to battle when it came down to it. We will continue to improve. I'm excited to see this team's full potential."

The sweet taste of victory will no doubt leave the fans hungry for more and they will continue to be there, supporting the team throughout the season. The Cyclones kick-off the regular season on October 15th, when they host the Kemptville Storm, creating a significant weather event to be sure.

Keyva Beeching celebrates her first goal of the season with Olivia Martel and Nora DesRochers. The goal tied the game and gave the team that extra push going into the third period.

Coach Ryan is all about the motivational pep talks. With the game tied 1-1 he can be seen in the second intermission quoting the great Ted Lasso "If God would have wanted games to end in a tie, she wouldn't have invented numbers."
