- Cam has an ability to respect all perspectives and views when considering important decisions that need to be addressed while not losing sight of how it may affect the members of KMHA. His organizational background gained through his experience with corporations with strong community engagement have led him to have the tools necessary to work through the micro while not losing touch of the macro. Easy to approach and always keen to listen, Cam will make himself available to better understand the needs of the members to improve the organization as a whole.
