SETTING GOALS

“People with clear, written goals, accomplish far more in a shorter period of time than people without them could ever imagine”

(Brian Tracey)

In this section we ask that you take the time to set some goals for yourself. When setting your goals, keep the following three factors in mind.

BE SPECIFIC

Explain how you plan to achieve your goal. For example; “I will improve my shooting by spending an additional 10 minutes a day on my shooting form.”

MAKE YOUR GOAL MEASURABLE

If your goal is to have better shooting accuracy, you can simply keep track of “makes vs misses” in a set sample set, 10, 20, 100 shots. For skill sets such as “better defense”, you may choose to evaluate whether or not your opponent beats you to the basket versus how many times you stop him / her.

BE AGGRESSIVE BUT PRACTICAL

If last year you averaged 2 rebounds per game, you may not want to set a goal of 12 this year. It’s good to be ambitious, but practical. We do not want you to set yourself up for failure and lose focus on the process.

“I’ve missed more than 9,000 shots in my career. I’ve lost almost 300 games. 26 times I’ve been trusted to take the game winning shot and missed. I’ve failed over and over and over again in my life, and that is why I succeed”

(Michael Jordan)

Do not fear failure, learning from our mistakes is what allows us to succeed. Thank you for taking the time to help us aid you in achieving your goals.

If you require more space for your goals, then what is provided below, please feel free to write on the back of this form or attach an additional piece of paper to it.

Sincerely,

Jason Ouellette
