Discussion on Merge

Question #1: Looked over all 4 designs, everyone agreed on the bottom left image with everyone agreeing on the grey background.

Question #2: We agree that the shorts should either be black or grey with the accent colours along the side. We will offer the Strathmore designer to provide the full jersey and short design but if he can't then we will see if Jordan from Whitepaper would like to take over the task. Shannon is meeting with Jordan on Monday. Jordan can provide jerseys at $62 and shorts at $17.50, if Scott can get a better price then we can move ahead with his distributor.

Question #3: It was discussed that we need to move forward with the Knights as they have already been scheduled and we are in a time crunch. We welcome any additional evaluators from Strathmore to take part and keep everything transparent. It was agreed that Adam and Stacey will validate the scores together. Gareth Barley can take over management of the Knights during evaluations. It was agreed that emails having to do with the merge need to include both eval directors and coaching directors in emails going forward. Everyone agreed that there are no issues with Strathmore taking an active part in evals and coaching decisions and we welcome them in the process. It was agreed that any Executive member involved in evaluations that has a child in that age group will leave the floor and watch the evaluation from the stands with the other parents. Since Stacy has a midget child and Adam a peewee, they can take over for each other at those times. Adam agreed to draft a proposal on our process with evaluations to send to Strathmore, they can then tweak what they need to on their end.
