Centre in the Park

Centre in the Park is a sustainable urban design development in Sherwood Park, Alberta.

This area offers a mix of services — municipal, retail, commercial, educational, institutional, recreational and cultural. Within this community hub are many great amenities such as Broadmoor Lake Park, links to the Heritage Parkway Trail System, and these inviting facilities:

- Community Centre and County Hall
- Strathcona County Library
- Festival Place
- Sherwood Park Arena and Sports Centre
- Kinsmen Leisure Centre
- Gallery@501

The district has over 1,300 parking stalls managed through an integrated parking system. It is designed with traffic calming measures to accommodate pedestrians, cyclists and drivers.

Paid parking and parking time limits help create parking stall turnover to improve parking availability and manage parking demands.

Please follow all posted signs.

Centre in the Park is still in development.

Exciting projects are underway — new residential and commercial development.

We appreciate your patience and cooperation during construction.

Register your licence plate

To receive two-hours parking at no charge (and to avoid a parking ticket), once you've parked your vehicle in the parkade, you must register your licence plate number at a parking pay station even if you are parking for two hours or less.

If you plan to stay for more than two hours, you must purchase the additional parking time at the paid parking rates that apply.

- To register, have your vehicle's licence plate number
- Follow pay station instruction prompts
 - First two hours will indicate no charge
 - Pay by credit card OR exact coins
 - No need to display receipt on dash

You can also go back to any of the parking pay stations to purchase more time.
