Other coaching experience: Related volunteer experience: Why do you want to coach?

What is your hockey philosophy?

Why do you think you would be a good coach?

What do you think your weaknesses are as a coach?

What has been your most successful coaching experience? Why was it the most rewarding?

What constitutes “success” for a player in the hockey program?

How will you measure your own success, as a coach, at the end of the season?

TMHA Code of Conduct Coaching and Team Management Staff

As a coach or other member of team management I will:

Carry out the purpose and policies of the Association in a manner consistent with Hockey Alberta and league policies and procedures.

Remember that players have responsibilities and interests other than hockey and be reasonable in demands on player's time and energy.

Subscribe to the principle that winning in life and in the game of hockey is a function of skill development and the application of effort and appropriate values.

Teach players to play in a sportsmanlike and fair manner in accordance with the rules of the game of hockey.

Teach players to respect the values and decisions of the Association, coaching staff, officials, opponents and teammates.

Provide a positive learning environment and ensure that all players receive equal instruction, discipline, support and appropriate and fair playing time.

Remember that players play the game for enjoyment and skill development and that ridiculing or yelling at players for making mistakes or performing poorly is unacceptable.

Set a good example for players and members. Ultimately, respect is earned.

Ensure that equipment and facilities are safe for participants bearing in mind the level of competition.

Ensure the acquisition of coaching principles and skills necessary to provide proper and appropriate instruction to the level of team coached.

Develop and implement annual and individual practice plans that reflect the hockey program approved by the Association.

Implement the hockey program developed and approved by the TMHA.

Ensure an appropriate balance between games and practices in accordance with the guidelines provided by the Association.

Abstain from the use of alcohol and tobacco products prior to and while engaged in hockey program activities involving minors.

Observe the tenants of fair play as identified in the CHA Fair Play Code.
