

“There is a phrase for it: It’s called ‘changing the tempo,’ and there is an art to it. Breaking out of old habits or cycles is hard work, and frightening. We resist it out of laziness, or fear, or insecurity. We’re afraid it won’t work, or we’re afraid of what people might say.”