

“People wonder how I get our players to work so hard. They hear tall tales about me and marvel that I don’t have a player revolt. But the truth is, our players want to put out that effort. It’s not a forced march. They do it because they aspire, and they understand the value of work.”