ONTARIO WOMEN'S HOCKEY ASSOCIATION Proud Past Bright Future

The Ontario Women's Hockey Association has a remarkable 40-year history. It was formed at a time when hockey was Canada's game but with very limited access to girls and women. Thanks to the excellence and commitment of the players and their families combined with the driven energy of countless volunteers, Female Hockey is now very much a part of the culture of Ontario, Canada and the world.

Areas led by the OWHA include the establishment and support of female teams, associations and leagues for girls and women of all ages and ability. The OWHA created a solid support network and took an aggressive approach to securing ice time, accessing facilities, testing equipment, lobbying for positive media coverage, attracting sponsors and acquiring support from all levels of government. These were only some of the areas driven by participants and volunteers. In addition, there was a solid recognition that the strength of the future would be in unity and flexibility with a consolidating focus on a powerful vision for the future. Clearly, every player made a difference whether house league or competitive and regardless of age. The system needed to empower the integrity of the volunteers and provide support for girls and women to excel as athletes and to thrive as people.

Through the excellence of the players, the commitment of the volunteers and the realization that the "opposition" exists only so there can be a hockey game, the OWHA led the world and truly accomplished the "impossible" with the acceptance of Female Hockey as an Olympic sport in 1998. This collective victory has given girls and women throughout the world the joy of participation and positive self-esteem through perfecting a skill, being accepted as a teammate and building life skills.

We owe so much to so many and must embrace our very rich past, enjoy the present and build a solid future with a positive vision based on sound values.

The 1970's saw the culmination of informal and formal meetings and the establishment of the OWHA. This was made possible through the commitment of volunteers and strong support of the Ontario government with funding that enabled the association to commence operations. OWHA operational documents were created providing an organized structure and unified provincial rules and regulations with the goal of providing maximum participation and fairness of competition. The age range and ability levels on individual teams was often extreme, with 11 year olds playing with thirty year olds and beginners lacing up with veterans. Travel was extensive requiring a 3 to 4 hour drive that often resulted with a 1 hour league game often cut short as female hockey was a low priority for ice use. Regardless of the hardships, the players and supporters embraced the joy of sharing in Canada's game, embraced the positives and partnered with the "opposing" teams to create a better future. A process for the election of an executive was created, players and teams were registered, tournaments were sanctioned and the OWHA was on a solid footing.

The 1980's saw the primary focus on supporting the existing programs and creating additional opportunities for girls and women to play the game at a level suitable to their abilities and desires. The OWHA continued its focus on flexibility of rules and regulations while empowering the integrity of volunteers throughout Ontario who were given the support to create house league and competitive opportunities that addressed the needs of their respective communities. The number of divisions and categories continued to increase and provincial championships were a highlight of the competitive season, bringing the province together in competition and sharing their love of female hockey. We lobbied successfully for the inclusion of female hockey in the 1985 Ontario Winter Games. In addition to the domestic success, the OWHA moved forward with its vision of national and international events, recognizing that this was a key component to the credibility of the game and would maximize the hockey and life experiences for female in Ontario, Canada and the world. The OWHA led the creation of the National Championship that took place in 1982 in Brantford, an event that led to the establishment of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association (now Hockey Canada) Female Council. From there, the OWHA lobbied for a World Championship and when that was not possible, hosted the very successful First Women's World Hockey Tournament in 1987 with 6 countries competing and another 5 sending delegates. In 1989, the OWHA was represented at the 1989 European Women's Championship in West Germany, another step forward for the female game.

The 1990's began with the realization of the OWHA's goal of world class female hockey as it partnered with Hockey Canada in hosting the first official IIHF World Women's Hockey Championship in Ottawa which was won by Canada. Team Canada wore pink jerseys, pink socks and white pants in a marketing plan that is still debated and discussed. The OWHA's relentless lobby for inclusion of Female Hockey as an Olympic event had gained world-wide support that proved successful with the announcement in 1992 that women's teams would participate in the 1998 Winter Olympics in Nagano, Japan. These national and international events not only provided opportunities for girls to play for their country, they more importantly, brought credibility to the female game and showcased positive role models both on and off the ice. These events were the catalyst for the vast growth of participation of girls and women at all ages and provided much needed support to OWHA teams and associations in growing and promoting the game.

The 2000's and the dawn of a new century began with a resounding New Year's celebration and the realization that the world was still intact. The 21st century features new opportunities and challenges. Society had moved from typewriters to computers, from mail to email, from paper to tablets and from a vision of a 4 day work week to the reality of a 24/7 work week. While family structures have changed and the economy fluctuates, fitness and sport are a priority and hockey remains Canada's game.

The OWHA's 40th anniversary season has, once again, proven to be a season of success. We congratulate all teams, associations and leagues on their victories both on and off the ice and we thank the countless volunteers who give so much for the good of the game. Each participant is a true champion.

Centrally, the OWHA continues to strengthen the foundation of the organization. In November 2014, our business operations moved into a new home on Watline Avenue in Mississauga. This building is ideal for the needs of the association with its office, meeting space and capacity for web casts. We continue to build on positive relationship with the province of Ontario through the Ministry of Tourism, Culture and Sport.

The future is ours to develop with strong values and vision. We cannot judge the past by today's standards nor can we plan the distant future on past or current standards. It is important to learn from the past, enjoy the present and work for the future.

Most important throughout its rich history, the OWHA kept its core focus on enhanced participation and inclusive opportunities through a Values-based system with the player at the forefront as both an athlete and a person.

Sincere thanks to the many volunteers who are the backbone of the OWHA. Thanks for volunteering and giving the OWHA your most precious gift – your time and your talent.

International Women's Year (IWY) was the name given to 1975 by the United Nations.

CONGRATULATIONS SUDBURY LADY WOLVES GOLD MEDALISTS

Sudbury Lady Wolves – National Champions

WHAT IT MEANS TO WIN A MAJOR CHAMPIONSHIP...

We've all seen the NHL commercial where players are asked what it means to them to have won the Stanley Cup. They are at a loss for words. We know how they feel. The enormity of our win is still sinking in. We knew it was the first title in Western's women's hockey history. We didn't realize we were only the third OUA team to ever win a National Championship (Laurier and Toronto were the others). We didn't realize how much attention we would garner. The players were acknowledged by their professors in classes often receiving large ovations. The university held a reception for the team that was attended by the President and other top university officials. The players were put on the ice prior to a London Knights playoff game and received a standing ovation from 9,000 fans. And, as a final tribute, we were chosen as the OUA team of the year. Everyone loves a winner.

And that is the end of this story. The beginning, however, is much different. The team we inherited at Western had only made the playoffs once and had never won a playoff game. The players we inherited were frustrated with losing and the culture was not positive. The program needed a complete overhaul.

I've always believed that the key to success is to have a plan and stick with it. When I interviewed for the Western job I presented my five-year plan. The first tenet of my plan was to recruit local talent. Those familiar with the OWHA know that London produces some top teams in Ontario through the London and Bluewater organizations. It was a mystery to me why the London-area players weren't being recruited by Western. With local players you can watch them play many, many times. You can go to their practices. Today our team boasts seven London-area players two of whom we voted CIS all-stars. Another aspect of our plan was to learn from other coaches. We modelled our program by adopting many of the philosophies of Clarke Singer, Western's men's hockey coach. Clarke runs a very successful program and helped us immensely in the early days with drills, systems, and more importantly support and advice. My belief has always been to surround myself with people better than me - learn and grow through them. This year, for example, Dave Barrett and Dave Edwards joined our coaching staff. I can honestly these were the most knowledgeable coaches I have ever worked with in women's hockey. Every day I learned something new. Without these two there would be no National Championship. An important aspect of our plan was building a strong team culture. There are many, many good books and videos about successful coaches and how they built a strong culture. Read them and find one that fits your personality. As a coach, if you inherit a team that has had limited success, you are likely inheriting a world of problems. There is a Russian saying that goes something like "Sometimes the wrong things have to happen so you end up in the right place". We had a lot of "wrong things" happen in our first few years. I wish we had adjusted quicker so we could be in the right place sooner. The key to changing the culture was to recruit kids with character. Coaches - when you are picking your team find those kids. They often don't have the most talent, but they need to be on your team. These are the players that cheer on the players who are on the ice in the last minute rather than wonder why they are not there. These are the kids who ask you how they can get better rather than why they aren't on the PP. These are the kids who say thank you at the end of the year. These are the kids who never miss practice. Find them and build your team around them.

Speaking of character, find character people to work with. You might notice that throughout this story I kept saying "We." The other half of the "We" is Brian Gosling. He is the heart and soul of Western Women's hockey. Without him our program would not be where it is. We recruit and plan together. We go around the province and build a network of coaches we work with. We fund-raise together. Any success the program has can be traced back to Brian who works quietly in the background, never wanting any credit. Coaches – find your Brian. Every successful program has one.

We also build traditions into our program. For example, every Monday the team would select the player who worked the hardest at practice. The prize was lunch pail – full of treats. The winner each week was required to pick the winner the following week. After every game a player of the game was chosen. They got to wear a special hat. It wasn't the hat that was important. It was what the hat stood for – recognition from your peers about a job well done. All the teams do this. Also – whenever we won both games on the weekend our Monday practice was a "fun" game.

The bottom line is this. Start with the end in mind (being a champion). Execute a plan built on character kids. Build you culture through these character kids and traditions. And, as Dave Barret says, die empty at the end. Leave nothing on the table. And when you win a championship remember your roots and be humble. Next year, you'll have to start all over again.

NAPS nets donated hockey gear for kids on JB coast 4

Thanks to Ron Grech, The Daily Press (Timmins) Sunday, January 18, 2015

NAPS Northeast Commander Insp. Eric Cheechoo, from left, discusses with Ed Pupich, vice-chairman of Hockey Canada, Paul Harrison, Northeast Region DARE co-ordinator, Staff Sgt. Dan Foy, detachment commander of South Porcupine OPP, and Const. Gillian Coughlin, community services officer with the South Porcupine OPP, how the donation of hockey equipment will benefit youth in communities on the James Bay coast.

TIMMINS - Whether it's fruits and vegetables, or sports equipment, anything sold in stores on the James Bay coast is dramatically marked up in price and in limited supply.

So when the Ontario Women's Hockey Association donated approximately 35 hockey bags and 40 boxes of new and gently used hockey equipment to be distributed freely throughout the northern coastal communities, it was hailed as a godsend.

"This is very exciting," Insp. Eric Cheechoo, the northeast commander of Nishnawbe-Aski Police Service, said Friday while looking over the equipment that was being donated.

Cheechoo was at the South Porcupine detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police where the equipment had just been delivered.

Cheechoo said there are a lot of young people in communities like Attawapiskat, Kashechewan and Fort Albany who want to play organized hockey but can't because their families can't afford to purchase the equipment.

Cheechoo said this donation provides a great opportunity, not only to enhance the life for some young people living in the coastal communities, but for NAPS to build relations with the youth.

NAPS will be the distributing agent of the equipment.

It was through a partnership with the South Porcupine OPP, Tisdale Bus Lines , and the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program of Northeastern Ontario that the equipment was delivered to NAPS.

Ron Malette of Tisdale Bus Lines arranged to pick up the items in Mississauga and delivered them to the South Porcupine OPP detachment at no charge.

Paul Harrison, the Northeast Region DARE co-ordinator, said his organization was extremely keen on supporting of this initiative.

As a former National Hockey League netminder, Harrison said he has always believed that "playing sports is the best drug prevention program."

Harrison added that through this donation, "we want to take advantage of an opportunity to provide some equipment and hopefully help some young people play sports and live a better life."

That sentiment was echoed by Staff Sgt. Dan Foy, commander of the South Porcupine OPP detachment area.

"The OPP is committed to working with NAPS to build strong relationships within the northern communities," Foy said. "Everyone involved hopes this donation will help create a positive alternative activity for youth in those communities."

CONGRATULATIONS MALLORY DELUCE

The Ontario Women's Hockey Association extends it's congratulations to Mallory Deluce for winning the Isobel Gathorne-Hardy Award. She has shown a commitment to female hockey for most of her life as a player who exemplified the true values of sport as she progressed through the system and continues to excel at the elite level. Mallory is a true leader with her on-ice skills and contributions and also through her leadership skills as captain of the OWHA's U18 National Championship hockey team. She is also a very active role model as a female pilot and actively encourages young girls to consider a career as a pilot. She is the spokesperson for a "pilot project" through Georgian Air and the OWHA.

Through her speaking engagements, Mallory is promoting the positive opportunities females can enjoy through hockey while she emboldens girls to consider a non-traditional career such as an airline pilot. She continues to be a leader at hockey rinks as she supports and encourages young girls. Mallory is truly deserving of the Isobel Gathorne-Hardy Award.
